IS THE NEWS SINCERE?

IN its issue of last Thursday, the Medicine Hat News asks Mr. James Hole, Labor candidate in this constituency, to explain how it was that the proclamations for electoral division of Medicine Hat were printed in a non-union shop at Redcliff.

Before starting to expose the insincerity of the News in its present copious flow of crocodile tears in the interests of union labor, we might say that when this country was enjoying a period of prosperity under Conservative rule at Ottawa, the Redcliff Review was a union shop employing three printers holding union cards. But during the period of depression which followed the advent of the Liberal party to power, the Review, like many other industries throughout the country, and like the Medicine Hat News, was forced to reduce its staff owing to the very noticeable falling off in business. During that time the Review staff was reduced to the boss and a boy, as we could not afford to hire a union printer. That, we consider is business, and nobody's business but our own. Even at that we still consider ourselves good, loyal citizens of the province, voters of the province and, as such, entitled to a fair share of the business of the province.

As far as the ordering of the printing of the proclamations is concerned, Mr. Hole had no more to do with it than had the editor of the Medicine Hat News. When the Review learned that Mrs. Baker had been appointed returning officer for Medicine Hat constituency, the writer called Mrs. Baker up on the phone and asked that the Review might be considered in the allotment of the usual election printing. Mrs. Baker replied that there were three printing offices in the constituency and that it was her intention to divide the printing among the three as evenly as possible, and that is just exactly what Mrs. Baker did. The Medicine Hat News got the printing of the Cypress proclamation, Mr. Dawson got the printing of the ballots and the Review got the Medicine Hat proclamation. Could anything be fairer or more businesslike?

It is quite easy to understand how the News, after being spoon fed with all the government printing for this district for sixteen years under Liberal rule at Edmonton, feels peeved when the present government plays the game fair and divides its printing equally among all the printers. In its attitude in this matter the News is acting very much like the peevish child whose wise parents took its all day nacker away from it at four o'clock in the afternoon.

With the Geo. P. Smith printing episode so fresh in the minds of the people of this province, one would think the News and all Liberal papers would hesitate to mention printing in any way in this election.

Under the old Liberal way of handing out printing to the chosen few papers which had shareholders setting on the treasury benches at Edmonton, and as was charged, by paying cabinet ministers for printing that was never done, government printing cost the province income $348,502.00 in one year. Under the present government's way of dividing printing among all the ratepayers of the province, government printing last year only cost the province $192,808.00.

Is it any wonder the News is now whining about the present way of doing government business? But what do the voters say? The difference between the way the News wants printing done and the way it is now being done means a saving of $155,699 of the people's money a year.

And now let us see if the News is sincere in its lamentations for labor.

In the present campaign in Medicine Hat constituency there are three candidates. Two of these candidates are union labor men, one of whom is labelled as the Labor candidate. The third candidate is not identified with labor in any way. And, would you believe it? The Medicine Hat News which tries to make its readers believe it is interested in labor, is out wholeheartedly in support of the candidate who is not identified in any way with labor. Does this look sincere? Does it look constant?

It might also be interesting if the News would publish a list of its shareholders and show us how many of them are working and voting in the interests of labor and labor candidates. Until the News can give some more tangible evidence of its sincerity, than is contained in its Labor Label Lamentations, the public will not take it seriously. Let us repeat that Mr. Hole had nothing whatever to do with the ordering of the proclamations for Medicine Hat constituency. The printing orders were given in a fair and business like way by the returning officer for the constituency.

MR. WOOD'S ADDRESS

IN the Empire theatre, Medicine Hat last Saturday evening, Mr. J. H. Woods, managing editor of the Calgary Herald, gave one of the plainest, most businesslike and straightforward addresses yet heard in this district in this campaign.

Mr. Woods spoke as an ordinary business man, accustomed to doing business on a large scale. Although a resident of this province for nineteen years Mr. Woods had never before taken the public platform in the interests of any political party but at the present time he, like many other business men throughout the province, felt called upon to lend his time and ability in an honest endeavor to help lift Alberta out of the position in which it now finds itself as a result of twenty-one years of Liberal and group government.

In reporting Mr. Woods' address the Medicine Hat News, true to form, dealt largely with his criticism of the farmer & government but said little or nothing about his telling criticism of the financial mess in which the farmer government found this province when assuming office after sixteen years of Liberal rule.

Mr. Woods gave a splendid review of Alberta's conditions and an optimistic forecast of her possibilities under a businesslike administration. He also made an earnest appeal for the support of Mr. Hendrick, the election of whom would help place in power the party and leader with the best platform for solving the problems of the province.

The great pity is that the theatre was not packed to the doors to hear this excellent address.

A GOOD PROPOSITION

LIBERAL papers throughout the province are trying to make political capital out of the fact that A. A. McGillivray, leader of the Conservative party, made at the rate of about eleven thousand dollars a year for three years, out of the present government for legal services rendered to the province. The present government employed Mr. McGillivray for all their most important work feeling that he was the best man in the province to do that work and no doubt they felt satisfied that for every dollar they paid him they got a dollar's worth of service.

There is one way this province can save a large portion of that amount spent for legal advice, and that is by making Mr. McGillivray premier of the province at a salary of $6,000 a year and make him responsible for the whole of the work of governing the province. This would be one way of saving four thousand dollars a year. This sounds like a good business proposition doesn't it?

VOTE "1" FOR W. C. SMITH in Empress & JAS. HOLE in Medicine Hat

In voting for a candidate an elector should exercise the same care as he would in engaging a manager for his business.

The main question should be "What are his qualifications, and his record?" You judge a prospective employee, not on what he promises to do, but what he has done.

The Liberals have a record of sixteen years of office in this Province. This record they do not, and cannot defend. The public, however, has not forgotten it.

The Conservatives have no record at all. Their return, as that of the Liberals, would mean a return to the party system, and all that it implies.

The U.F.A. ask for your vote on June 28 on their record for the past five years. They offer a continuation of sound business administration for the benefit of the people of Alberta as a whole, and co-operation in place of party division.

The only argument Liberals and Conservatives offer is that of promises. The Government's argument is performance.

During the past five years, the cost of administration has been reduced 14 per cent., the Civil Service has been transferred from a basis of patronage to a basis of merit, a real highway policy has been put into effect, health and education services have been increased, etc. Efficiency is much greater in every department of government as a result of transference from a basis of party favoritism to one of business administration.

The Government have had to face the opposition of the daily press, they have had to shoulder the legacies of railways, irrigation schemes, cow bill, seed and feed relief payments, etc., responsible for our present debt. They have had to face the inaction of the Liberal Government in Ottawa with regard to natural resources, railway and colonization responsibility, provincial control of power and mineral development, etc. But despite these handicaps they have made remarkable progress.

Note the improvement since 1921.

Here Is What "The U. F. A."

The Official Organ For The Province

Had To Say Of Capt. Shaw,

Liberal Leader, As Late As Sept. 15, 1925

CAPT. J. T. SHAW

CAPTAIN SHAW

"The announcement that Captain Shaw, who has represented West Calgary in the House of Commons as an Independent member for the past four years, will not be a candidate in the forthcoming election will be received with the deepest regret, not only in all parts of Alberta, but among forward-looking people throughout the Dominion."

"Capt. Shaw's withdrawal from public life would be a very serious loss to Canada. He made his mark in the last parliament, and he is recognized today as a parliamentarian of independent spirit and of outstanding ability and courage. He is one of a still small group of men in the federal sphere who have been paving the way for a real advance from the petty politics of today, to constructive and genuinely progressive statesmanship. His early return to public life will be hoped for by all who are familiar with his record of service in the parliament recently dissolved."

"Since the announcement of Mr. Shaw's intention not to be a candidate, very great pressure has been brought to bear upon him in Calgary in the hope that he will reconsider his position. We trust that he may yet decide to allow his name to go before the electors on October 29th."

MARK YOUR BALLOT THROUGH

Do not be satisfied by marking No. 1 for your own party, but mark your second choice of the other two candidates.

MARKING YOUR SECOND CHOICE

In no way interferes with your first choice. Your first choice is not eliminated unless your candidate is the low man. If you "plunge" for one candidate, it means merely that you make no second choice of the other two, if your candidate should be eliminated.

If you have determined to vote No. 1 for another candidate, then vote No. 2 for Liberal Candidate.

CONSERVATIVE PRINCIPLES ARE RESTATED BY THE CONSERVATIVE LEADER

A. A. McGillivray Sets Forth in Plain Language What the Provincial Conservative Party Stands for in Coming General Election

Co-Operative Marketing Extension is Advocated

Proportion of Monies Expended on Roads to Go Toward the Maintenance of Country Roads as Well as Main Highways—Encourage the Inflow of Capital and Immigration to Supplement Efforts of the Dominion Government.

SPEAKING at Rockyford on Thursday afternoon, June 16th, in support of Hugh Miller, Conservative candidate in the Glenochter riding, A. A. McGillivray, leader of the provincial Conservative party, reiterated the items in the policy of the party that he has stated from different platforms in Alberta since being elected leader in August, 1925.

In his usual fighting style, Mr. McGillivray reviewed the record of the present government. Summing up his appeal to the electorate following the declaration of political principles, Mr. McGillivray stated that the Liberal party had taken power and its record cannot be hidden under the cloak of one new election.

Give Them Chances
The present government has failed to cope with public questions, the record of which are as follows: "The Government has failed to develop northern railways, natural resources and the finance problem that it has had to face, then why give the provincial Conservative party a chance to demonstrate what it can do? Mr. McGillivray left here at 8 p.m. for Oyen and other points in Assiniboia riding.

In reiterating points in the Conservative policy that have been enunciated by him from many platforms since he took the leadership of the party in August, 1925, Mr. McGillivray said: "I have no coin in for the form of political advertising that is known as the manifesto. I observe that the Liberal leader has issued one in 1921. He issued one which commenced as follows: 'The Conservative government will replace the present system. Independent candidates in West Calgary outline constructive proposals for the establishment of a democratic government from partisanship and partisanship. Proportional representation truly reflects popular will. Patrons system which is vital to the maintenance of party system, and is today a national scandal, will disappear under the reformed method of election.'

"In so much as the new manifesto of the Liberal leader commenced as follows: 'Liberal manifesto—J. T. Shaw, Liberal leader, issues statement of party policy; and in so much as the latest manifesto by Mr. Shaw is as far as it does not consist of copy-righted platitudes and glowing generalities, is partly taken from the pronouncements of the Conservative party, it may be well for me to restate the position of the Conservative party upon some of the provincial issues, a position taken and given public expression to on the platforms of this country at times when Mr. Shaw was still an independent.

Conservative Platform
"The provincial Conservative party stands for the following:
"1. Redistribution whereby the number of constituencies will be reduced so that there will not be more than 48 members in the legislature. This reduction to be made having due regard both to population and to the sparsely settled areas.
"2. Reduction in the amount paid as seasonal indemnities of members by $500.
"3. A determined effort to make of the United Farmers of Alberta an organization something more than a mere political machine and to advance its development along social and economic lines.
"4. The encouragement of co-operative marketing. Even as supporters of the Conservative party brought Sir John Diefenbaker to power through political advantage, so will the Conservative party support any movement for the benefit of the farmer, without seeking political differentiation.

Money for Roads
"5. A fair proportion of the money:

TELLS OF EXTRAVAGANCE OF LIBERAL PARTY WHEN IN POWER AND OF INABILITY OF GROUP GOVERNMENT TO GOVERN PROVINCE—STRONG APPEAL FOR SUPPORT OF CONSERVATIVE LEADER AND HIS CANDIDATES.

At the meeting held in the Empire theatre, Medicine Hat, last Saturday evening in the interests of J. J. Hendrick, the Conservative candidate, Mr. J. H. Woods, of Calgary, was the principal speaker. Owing to illness brought on by the wet weather during the campaign, Mr. Hendrick was unable to be present on that occasion.

In his remarks as chairman, Dr. Smyth spoke of Mr. Hendrick's record as a workman, and what he had been able to accomplish as chairman of the grievance committee for the railroad men, and that he was the right type of man to represent this constituency. The policy of Mr. McGillivray was one that should appeal to all, being in the best interests of the province, and he urged his listeners to get behind the movement during the coming week and elect Mr. Hendrick.

Mr. Woods stated in his opening remarks that, although, he had been a member of the Liberal party for nineteen years, he had never before taken the public platform in the interest of any political party. However, conditions in Alberta now were such that it was the plain duty of every citizen who was interested in an endeavor to improve those conditions.

"Provincial politics touch us much more intimately," he said, "than federal politics." For this reason all should become interested as to be in a better position to vote intelligently in their own interest when the time for marking the ballot arrives.

Mr. Woods then gave a general review of conditions throughout the province from its inception in 1905. From that time until 1921 the Liberal party was in power in Edmonton and had many opportunities to prove its ability, but had left behind it a record of extravagance: up till 1911 they had not done too badly as at that time the province had a debt of $2,000,000 but the speaker went on to show how that debt had greatly increased up to 1921, when it reached the enormous amount of $7,000,000. The last office added $10,000,000 to the debt. Mr. Woods said he felt some sympathy for the Farmers' government, but was taking office with a view to assume this obligation left by the Liberal party, and he had endeavored to help them all his possible efforts through the meeting of his party. In all his experience, he had never known a government to be so weak as the present Liberal government in handling the affairs of the province.

It was, he pointed out, because of the extravagance of the Liberal party when in power, and the very apparent inability of the present government to do anything to improve the situation, that business men of all shades politics were now on public platforms advocating the business policy as laid down by Mr. McGillivray, the leader of the Conservative party. It was not party or politics which interested them, it was the platform and become interested in this campaign, but a common view with the idea to endeavor to have an administration of the various departments on a sound basis. That was the reason he appeared before them as a business man. He claimed that business men would soon go broke if they followed the system as followed by the present and past governments of this province.

Mr. Woods then went on to speak of the unsuccessfulness of Mr. McGillivray did of the time as money he had given to the party for organization purposes, believing it was in the interest of the province. Speaking of the platform of the various leaders, he said, "It is not what their platforms are, but the genuineness of the man that counts. I believe that the Conservative party is determined to power, they would be firm and steady and able, and have a sincere intent to remedy the conditions."

Mr. Woods paid a high tribute to the character and ability of Mr. J. J. Hendrick, the local Conservative candidate, and said there was no need to discuss Labor in Medicine Hat because "you can't have a better Labor record than the one we have here."

During the evening a solo was rendered by Mrs. C. A. Sanders, and a musical monologue by Miss White, accompanied by Mr. Hendrick. The close a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Woods for his very able address.

HOW TO MARK THE BALLOT
A S this is the last issue of the Review before election day, we would again remind our readers of the change in the system of voting which will be used in this election.
In another column of this issue you will find an advertisement for the guidance of voters. We would advise all to read it over carefully.
Remember you don't mark your ballot with a cross or X this time. Just the plain figure 1 is all you mark opposite the name of the man whom you want elected. Put a 2 opposite the name your second choice and a 3 opposite your third choice. Read the adv. over and you will see how you may mark your first choice only if you desire.
The main thing now is to make sure you get out to vote and be sure you mark your ballot properly.
HOMESTEADS TAKEN UP
More than 80 homesteads have been taken up by incoming settlers during the first two weeks of June at the federal land office at Edmonton.

In all his experience, he had never known a government to be so weak as the present Liberal government in handling the affairs of the province.

It was, he pointed out, because of the extravagance of the Liberal party when in power, and the very apparent inability of the present government to do anything to improve the situation, that business men of all shades politics were now on public platforms advocating the business policy as laid down by Mr. McGillivray, the leader of the Conservative party. It was not party or politics which interested them, it was the platform and become interested in this campaign, but a common view with the idea to endeavor to have an administration of the various departments on a sound basis. That was the reason he appeared before them as a business man. He claimed that business men would soon go broke if they followed the system as followed by the present and past governments of this province.

Mr. Woods then went on to speak of the unsuccessfulness of Mr. McGillivray did of the time as money he had given to the party for organization purposes, believing it was in the interest of the province. Speaking of the platform of the various leaders, he said, "It is not what their platforms are, but the genuineness of the man that counts. I believe that the Conservative party is determined to power, they would be firm and steady and able, and have a sincere intent to remedy the conditions."

Mr. Woods paid a high tribute to the character and ability of Mr. J. J. Hendrick, the local Conservative candidate, and said there was no need to discuss Labor in Medicine Hat because "you can't have a better Labor record than the one we have here."

During the evening a solo was rendered by Mrs. C. A. Sanders, and a musical monologue by Miss White, accompanied by Mr. Hendrick. The close a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Woods for his very able address.

If Not, Get It On Before Friday, at Four O'clock

The Review again draws the attention of voters to the fact that in order to have a vote at the provincial election next Monday their names should be on the voters' list.

A. E. Smith is the enumerator for Redcliff. Those who are otherwise qualified to vote and have come to vote since the last lists were compiled or within the last two months and those who have become of age since the last election should call on Mr. Smith and see if their names have been added to the list. This must be done before four o'clock on Friday afternoon of this week as no names will be added or struck off after that time.

Some Reasons Why Redcliff Should Vote 1 For J. J. Hendrick

The Conservative Candidate

In its last Friday's issue, the Medicine Hat News asks the question: "Which of the three candidates in the field will benefit Medicine Hat most to elect?" This is a question which should interest Redcliff voters very much. Do the people of Redcliff want to see a man elected who is going to benefit the city of Medicine Hat most or do they want a man elected to represent this constituency who will work in the interests of the whole constituency and give Redcliff a square deal when it comes to working in Redcliff's interests in matters which might mean taking a little business away from Medicine Hat? Redcliff has already had some experience in this connection. When Mr. Pingle was member for Redcliff the people of Redcliff and farmers living across the river south of town, wanted a ferry across the river so that these farmers could come to Redcliff where they could do business more conveniently.

Petitions from farmers concerned and from Redcliff people, were presented to Mr. Pingle and the Liberal government asking for this ferry. The justice of the request was admitted at the time, but the ferry was never installed. Why? The Medicine Hat News answers this question by its intonation in its editorial to which reference is made.

J. J. Hendricks, the Conservative candidate, is a working man, interested in working men. The business of the office which he holds in the union to which he belongs, is to see that everybody gets a square deal. He has had several years experience in this work and can be depended upon, if elected, to give a square deal to the whole constituency.

Vote 1 For Hendrick and You'll Be Right.
